For the second consecutive year, Greece Unfolds impressive sides of herself that were not widely known until recently, inviting the world to rediscover her. The General Secretariat of Information has relaunched a tool for journalists, opinion leaders and other interested parties, in order to enable them to explore contemporary Greece in a fast and efficient way.

The "Greek News Agenda" (GNA) is a daily online bulletin in English that informs its readers of developments in topics like current affairs, politics, international relations, business, energy, culture and travel. GNA publishes also special editions periodically, serving therefore as a point of reference for issues of general as well as particular interest and providing useful online sources for additional information.

The current publication of the General Secretariat of Communication - General Secretariat of Information offers a comprehensive collection of GNA's published in 2007. We are confident that the mosaic which will emerge from putting together all the pieces found in Greece Unfolds, will uncover the credible, extroverted, prospering and very attractive faces of modern Greece.
